How to Use a Rebozo as a Door Counterweight

1. Secure the Door: Use a sturdy door that opens away from the person, or lock a door that opens toward them. Ensure the door is firmly shut.
2. Create an Anchor: Tie a secure, large knot in one end of the rebozo and drape it over the top of the door, placing the knot on the opposite side to prevent it from sliding through.
3. Support and Position:
 - Squatting: The laboring person can hold the hanging ends of the scarf to support their weight while in a deep squat, which helps open the pelvis.
 - Hanging/Leaning: The person can hang from the scarf to take pressure off their lower back and hips.
 - Rhythmic Movement: The partner can guide the person to sway or move while supported by the scarf.
